DECLINE TO JOIN

HIGH OFFICIALS OF THE FEDERATION OF LABOR OPPOSE TO ANY STRIKE AT THIS TIME

IF STRIKE OCCURS IT WILL ONLY BE BY FIVE BIG OPERATING BROTHERHOODS

Hope for a solution of the railway strike ruled today. The United States Railway Labor Board is understood to be using its utmost endeavors to effect a solution. It is understood that in case of a strike the government was discussing the use of injunctions.

The fact that many other railway unions have refused to join the strike movement and that officials of the American Federation of Labor refuse to join the Brotherhoods has given ground for hope that the threatened railway strike will not materialize.

Leaders of the five brotherhoods have gone into conference.

CARL V. LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The United States Railway Labor Board declared it has every reason to believe that the railway strike of October 30 will be averted. The Board has called on the public to refrain from loose talk on the strike situation.

Both parties to the controversy, said the Board, were trying to solve the problems presented. Neither party should be singled out for unauthorized criticism or denunciation.

This is the first statement that has been issued by the Railway Labor Board before the meeting set for Wednesday.

Federation Officials are Opposed to Strike

By HERBERT WALKER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Oct. 24.—High officials of the American Federation of Labor are opposed to any strike at the present time. Every effort of the Federation of Labor will be made here to discourage any sympathetic strikes.

President Samuel Gompers and other leaders state such strikes will cause organized labor to lose many of the advantages obtained since the war, and may result in an extension of the open shop.

It is the belief of the government that the backbone of the strike has been broken.

1,300,000 Refuse to Join Strike

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Break in the ranks of railroad employees came Saturday when more than 1,300,000 workers refused to join the big brotherhoods in the October 30 railroad strike.

Bert M. Jewell, president of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor, said the federated shop crafts, composed of a membership of 500,000 has decided not to walk out after the brotherhoods refused to remain on strike in support of the shopmen if the transportation group received a settlement acceptable to them.

Trackmen Rescind Strike Order

On the heels of Jewell's announcement, E. F. Grable, head of the Maintenance of Way and Railway Shop Laborers state his organization of nearly 400,000 men had rescinded the strike order issued Friday.

The Stationary Engineers, Firemen and Oilers fell right in line and announced their strike orders had been deferred. The union has 40,000 members. Timothy Healy, president, was instructed by the executive committee to follow the course mapped out by Jewell.

others in refusing to join the Brotherhoods' strike.

The unions that refused to join the strike comprise half of the 2,000,000 rail workers in the country and all are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The three organizations gave the refusal of complete co-operation by the brotherhoods as the reason for the action, despite the fact that their members had voted overwhelmingly in favor of a walkout.

Unions Refused Co-Operation
"It must be clearly evident that the membership of the brotherhoods cannot and will not co-operate with any other class of employees, said Jewell.

The federated shop crafts, which lead the secessionist movement, is comprised of 13 crafts grouped in six unions affiliated with the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor, and was the first organization to vote to strike.

Chairmen of the dissenting unions will meet again after the United States railroad labor board announces its decision on working rules and agreements and final action will be taken at that time.

Secessionists Issue Statement
A statement signed by Jewell and officials of the shop crafts and concurred in by the heads of the maintenance of way workers and stationary engineers, follows:

"There have been many reasons why concerted action on matters common to all could be hoped for. The federated shop crafts have and do stand for concerted action with any or all standard railroad labor organizations. We were definitely advised Oct. 14 by the officers of the four transportation organizations that they would not under any circumstances co-operate with the Federated Shopcrafts in the threatened strike beginning October 30.

"It further developed that if any other class of employees decided to strike with them, the four transportation unions would not be bound to remain on strike after they had received a settlement acceptable to them, even though those who had assisted them in making their strike successful had received no settlement and were still on strike.

"The membership of the Federated Shopcrafts is entitled to know these facts.

"For the reasons stated the Federation Shopcrafts will continue to await the issuance by the United States Railway Labor Board of the decision on the remaining rules and upon receipt of this decision this body will be reconvened and final and definite action will be taken, having for its purpose the protection of the best interests of these Federated Shopcrafts."

The unions that comprise the shop crafts are:

International Association of Machinists; International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers; International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers of America; Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers International Alliance; International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America.

Clerks Vote Against Strike

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, with a membership of 350,000, tonight joined the unions which have voted not to go on strike by adopting a resolution in which their men are refused authorization to walk out for the time being. The matter will be reconsidered after the labor board renders its decision on rules and working conditions. The action brought the number of rail workers who will not strike to more than three-fourths of the nation's total.

May Use Injunction Against Strike

Washington, Oct. 24.—The possibility of federal injunctions to be used against the railway strike before it materializes, was hinted at by U. S. Attorney General Dougherty.

The injunctions may be issued to tie up the funds of the "big five" brotherhoods, or to attack the strike call as a conspiracy in the restraint of interstate commerce. Whatever is done, his aim is to protect the general public.

The government can petition for an injunction whenever the public interest is threatened. Dougherty has been in conference with President Harding and his cabinet.

A conference is to be called by Dougherty of federal district attorneys of New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland and Indianapolis to receive instructions.

TOWNLEY WILL HAVE TO SERVE JAIL SENTENCE

(By United Press)
Washington, Oct. 24.—The conviction of A. C. Townley and Joseph Gilbert, nonpartisan leaders charged with violating the Minnesota espionage law, will stand as the United States Supreme Court has refused to review the case. They are charged with interfering with enlistments during the war.

The ruling of the United States Supreme Court today, said St. Paul officials, is to the effect that Townley and Gilbert will have to serve 90 day sentences in the Jackson county jail as a result of their convictions. Gilbert is already serving on a similar charge in the Red Wing county jail.

Washington, Oct. 24.—A. C. Townley president of the nonpartisan league, and Joseph Gilbert will have to serve 90 days sentences in the Jackson county, Minnesota, jail as a result of the decision in the United States Supreme Court, according to the attorney general's statement here. Gilbert is already serving a sentence.

The trials occurred two years ago and the cases have been in county, state and United States courts ever since. They were accused of making speeches discouraging enlistments in Jackson county during the war and the prosecution was brought about largely through the Minnesota Public Safety Board, against which board labor and the nonpartisans staged a hot fight. It is causing some speculation as to what effect the decision will have on the fortunes of Townley in the political fight in North Dakota.

Conflicting Reports Carl's Latest Venture

By FRANK GETTY,
(United Press Cable Editor.)

New York, Oct. 24.—Former Emperor Carl of Hungary, who fled from his asylum in Switzerland to join 5,000 of his followers in a coup d'etat against the present government of Hungary, was reported from various European capitals as being successful, as being defeated and as being assassinated.

Latest dispatches from Vienna, which is closest to Budapest, reported that the monarchical drive of Carl to regain his throne had not been successful.

Admiral Horthy continued to hold out against the attacks of the Carlists. Another dispatch said a truce had been arranged.

Simultaneous reports quoted by the "Morgenpost" state Budapest had capitulated and another that Carl had been assassinated.

Whatever actual situation is governing in Hungary it seems certain that Carl's coup d'etat has been a short lived one.

The greatest indignation over Carl's action prevails in England and France. Czechoslovakia and Serbia are mobilizing troops on the Hungarian border to be used against Hungary if Carl is successful.

The Czech cabinet considers the success of former Emperor Carl's empire dream a cause for war.

Various places in the western hemisphere were suggested as asylums for Carl. Decision was reserved to the Wednesday meeting.

Conflicting Reports Carl's Latest Venture

By FRANK GETTY,
(United Press Cable Editor.)

New York, Oct. 24.—Former Emperor Carl of Hungary, who fled from his asylum in Switzerland to join 5,000 of his followers in a coup d'etat against the present government of Hungary, was reported from various European capitals as being successful, as being defeated and as being assassinated.

Latest dispatches from Vienna, which is closest to Budapest, reported that the monarchical drive of Carl to regain his throne had not been successful.

Admiral Horthy continued to hold out against the attacks of the Carlists. Another dispatch said a truce had been arranged.

Simultaneous reports quoted by the "Morgenpost" state Budapest had capitulated and another that Carl had been assassinated.

Whatever actual situation is governing in Hungary it seems certain that Carl's coup d'etat has been a short lived one.

The greatest indignation over Carl's action prevails in England and France.

Czecho-Slovakia and Serbia are mobilizing troops on the Hungarian border to be used against Hungary if Carl is successful.

The Czech cabinet considers the success of former Emperor Carl's empire dream a cause for war.

Allied Council Sends Note That Carl Must Leave

Paris, Oct. 24.—A note to the Hungarian government that former Emperor Carl and his company be ordered to leave the country immediately has been dispatched by the Council of Allied Ambassadors.

May Prevent Briand Coming to America

Paris, Oct. 24.—Premier Briand may be held back from his attendance at the parley on arms in America by the attempted coup d'etat of former Emperor Carl.

Czech Cabinet Sends Ultimatum

Prague, Oct. 24.—A 48-hour time limit for the removal of former Emperor Carl from Hungary has been announced in the ultimatum to Hungary issued by the Czech cabinet.

Ambassadors Would Send Carl to U. S.

Paris, Oct. 24.—A suggestion has been made that former Emperor Carl be exiled to the United States after he is caught, was raised at the ambassadors' council, after a formal note had been dispatched to Hungary demanding the expulsion of Carl. Various places in the western hemisphere were suggested as asylums for Carl. Decision was reserved to the Wednesday meeting.

ARMY WORKING ON STATE HIGHWAY

Minnesota Highway Department Employing from 2,500 to 3,000 Men on Maintenance

C. M. BABCOCK IN STATEMENT

Typical Monthly Expenditures and Employment Figures are Given of Maintenance Department

The Minnesota Highway department is employing an army of between 2,500 and 3,000 men including those on part time, and is using from $250,000 to $300,000 a month for maintenance on the state trunk route system, Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, announced today. The department issued a bulletin on a typical 30-day maintenance statement which, it was asserted, shows fairly equal amounts of work and expenditures in the sixteen districts, relative needs, comparative mileages, new construction and other conditions considered.

Commissioner Babcock announced last spring upon inauguration of the new highway development plan that maintenance work by patrolmen and special forces would be depended to spread general benefits over the entire 7,000-mile system during the first year. The bulletin today, based on official records, is intended to show how the policy is being carried out.

Typical monthly expenditures and employment figures in the maintenance department of the sixteen districts are listed as follows:

Head-Quarters	Trunk Mileage	No. Employed	Total Expended
Virginia	302	122	$2,875
Lindstrom	438	381	32,501
Bemidji	526	191	18,958

W'thing'n	452	158	16,458

The statement necessarily includes items which vary from month to month. For example, some of the larger totals by districts contain payments to traffic census enumerators and men marking highways for which no charge is made in others during the period covered. Expenses of truck and tractor fleets and like special items also make material difference in the monthly comparisons between districts. The typical 30-day statement, however, affords a general idea of what year end averages will be.

Another table gives classifications of employees and expenditures:

Class	Number	Payments
Office helpers	38	$ 5,856
Foremen	56	7,316
Patrolmen	931	157,014
Machine operators	127	15,214
Truck drivers	91	8,255

Laborers	790	37,413
Census observers	132	2,700
Highway markers	38	3,217
Miscellaneous	73	4,599
Totals	2,830	$281,895

Monthly averages for the season will show a larger number of patrolmen, who are employed by the month, it was stated, and possibly reductions in some classes of special help. The payments to patrolmen indicate that the average of $150 a month for 10 hours a day is being paid together with $20 a month for rental and repairs on equipment furnished the men.

Efforts to replace inefficient patrolmen continue, according to W. F. Rosenwald, maintenance engineer, and the department hopes within a year to have efficient courteous, faithful road menders.

Crow Wing County

In 1871 Brainerd was made the county seat of Crow Wing. Ten years later it became the financial center, for this bank was then organized, and even now, after forty years of continuous service this bank has about half the deposits in the county.

The First National has taken part in building up the county as well as the city.

It has helped to support the lumber and milling industries, and agriculture. It is going to back the farmers to the limit of their credit and its ability.

We have a vision of Crow Wing County as a land of fine farms. We see here in the future some of the finest dairy herds in the state. We see good farm houses equipped with modern plumbing and lighting. We see huge barns, land enriched and improved, and the country folks more prosperous than ever. We also foresee greater iron range activities and the working of some of the world's richest manganese deposits in Crow Wing County.

We are already working to realize that vision.

MISS EUBANK GAINS HEARTIEST APPLAUSE

Noted Mezzo Soprano Welcomed at New Park Theatre by Largest Audience of Musical Season

AUSPICES OF MUSICAL CLUB

Her Program Was a Well Balanced One, Recital Was a Joy to All Music Lovers

The largest audience of any musical season assembled Sunday afternoon at the Park theatre to welcome Miss Lillian Eubank, mezzo-soprano, who has sung with both the Metropolitan and the Chicago opera companies.

To lovers of good music the recital was a real joy, and to those not familiar with the best, it was a revelation. Many persons have a passionate love for music but have no shred of voice whatever, and many who have glorious voices seem to have no soul, but Miss Eubank is endowed with both beauty of voice and of soul.

Her program was wonderfully well balanced and most satisfying. Her first number was an aria from "The Queen of Sheba." Plus dans son obscurite, by Gounod. As the first clear, firm notes were sung the audience, tense with expectation, settled back in their seats, content to give themselves over to the joy of sound.

At first somber, and then growing in dramatic force, this song served to show the marvelous power of the singer. Her breath control was remarkably fine, and the gasps sometimes heard in Grand Opera singers were entirely absent. Responding to hearty applause, Miss Eubank sang a dear little negro song, "Lindo Lou," by Strickland. The love of one supposed to be singing was expressed through the medium of the bird, the honeysuckle, and the South wind.

The first of the next group of songs was by a Chicago composer, Herbert Hyde. In the mind of the reviewer, it was one of the most beautiful of the songs heard. It was sung so smoothly and in so unhurried a manner as to bring out all the sorrow and all the joy of a great love. No song could show the melting sweetness of her voice more perfectly.

The two remaining numbers of this group, "Absence," and "I Have a Tryst to Keep," were composed by Powell Weaver, a Kansas City organist, and are still in manuscript. Mr. Weaver was Miss Eubank's accompanist during her trip through the West last season. As an encore she gave "If You Have a Sweetheart," by Hawley. This was sung in a vivacious manner, and was well received. "Bendemeer's Stream," and "Lezlie Lindsay," two old Scotch songs, were warmly applauded. "Bendemeer's Stream" is an appealing old song and well known to many. Third in this group was "My Little Sunflower," by Vanderpoole. This was a gem, and ended all too soon. The last song of the group, "Yesterday and Today," by Spross, was beautifully and convincingly sung. The first verse is sweetly sad, and the rich contralto tones of Miss Eubank's remarkable voice were given full play here. The second verse is most joyful, and was sung in an inspired manner. The enthusiastic applause drew another delightful encore, "A Birthday," by Woodman.

An Italian song, "D'un Prison," by Panizza, was the first of another group of songs. The singer is visioned as being confined in prison, gazing out of the barred window at the green grass and budding trees, and watching the careless people as they pass. His soliloquy is to the effect that though these people are free to do as they choose, he wonders if they are making the best of their lives. Though not in English, this song was very much enjoyed. The next number was a French love song, "Nell," by Faure. Miss Eubank's enunciation is almost perfect, and those in the audience who understood French were able to follow the song with ease. Most of the songs were in English, which added to the enjoyment of the majority of those present, though a few songs in Italian and French add to the brilliancy of a program. The last song given in this group was a Russian song, "Over the Steppe," by Gretchaninoff. The beauty of Miss Eubank's voice was greatly subdued in this number, as the song is of the cold, bleak steppes (treeless plains) of Russia and Siberia. In great contrast was her encore, "At Dawning," by Cadman. A favorite with many, this song was listened to with breathless interest, and a burst of applause came at its close. One only wished it could have been repeated.

And then came what for many was the climax of the afternoon's entertainment, the aria from "La Tosca," "Vissi d'arte Vissi d'amore (love and music, these have I lived for)." Sardou's lurid tragedy was set to music by Puccini, and though regarded by many as not his best opera, it has the distinction of raising a threadbare old play to real heights. Still, there are not a few who think it wears best of anything he has done. Miss Eubank brought to this song real dramatic power, that made one long to hear her with a full orchestral accompaniment. This song rises to the very heights of tragedy, as La Tosca voices her revolt against the hand of Fate. The emotional appeal of this number is well suited to Miss Eubank's wonderfully controlled voice, and in the most impassioned measures she sang with a complete abandon that left her hearers spell-bound. She graciously gave an encore, even after singing this heavy number.

The last group was composed of four charming songs, the first being a familiar one to most of the audience. "The Nightingale has a Lyre of gold," by Whelpley. The wording of this song is delightfully unique, and Miss Eubank's clear enunciation gave each word its proper emphasis. It was delightfully sung. The next number was Spanish in origin, and was composed by a Spaniard, de No gero. Its waltz time is captivating, and the singer put much spirit into its interpretation. It is hoped that this song, "My Love is a Muleteer," will be on other programs during the season. "The Lawd is Smiling Thru the Door," a little negro lullabye by Carpenter was next sung. These simple and "folksy" songs are exceptionally well done by Miss Eubank, rather a surprising thing in one used to singing the heavy roles of Grand Opera. Though these folk songs of the Southern darkies are simple as to music, these humble songs require great sympathy in their execution.

Miss Eubank's closing song was most appropriately chosen, "Take Joy Home," by Bassett. The opening words are, as near as the reviewer can remember, "Build a place in thy great heart for her" (Joy). One felt inspired to build more stately mansions for this dear visitor, Joy, after hearing this beautiful song. Another particularly pleasing line was "It is a comely fashion to be glad." Long will this song linger in the minds and hearts of those privileged to hear it. The audience was not satisfied to leave without hearing Miss Eubank once more, so as an encore she sang "I Passed by Your Window" by Brahe.

All in all, it was a memorable performance, and the music lovers of Brainerd hope to have the pleasure of hearing Lillian Eubank again and again.

Miss Sylvia Marburger, accompanist of Miss Eubank, deserves special mention for her masterly piano work. To blend one's personality so completely with that of the singer as to become almost a part of the person is a rare feat, and Miss Marburger's rippling tones formed a tapestry of melody as a fitting background for the singer's glorious voice.

DANCING PARTY

Invitations Issued by the Business & Professional Womens Club for Social Dance Friday Night

Invitations are out for the dancing party to be given Friday evening, October 28, at Elks' hall, by the Business and Professional Women's club. The dance is to be Halloween in spirit, and the invitations are very attractive, being printed in Old English script on cards of orange, and decorated with weird witches on broomsticks.

The decorations planned are very unique, and will be mirth-provoking. From a goblin booth cider and doughnuts will be served, and old fashioned square dances and quadrilles will intersperse the newer one-steps and fox trots. Waltzes and two-steps will be on the dance programme also, and all will be assured of an entertaining evening.

The guests will be met on the stairs by ghostly ushers, who will point out the way to the ball room. "Spooky" objects will be encountered on the way. Wise old owls, black cats with high-arching backs, jolly fat Jack-o'-lanterns with smiling, up-turned mouths, and sad, elongated ones with dropping lips, all will be there to give delicious thrills and pimply gooseflesh, which will be dispelled by the sound of rhythmic dance music, played by Brainerd's leading orchestra.

From a witch's cauldron, stirred and tended by a cousin of the old woman who rode the broomstick, will be speared fortunes for all present. Would you know the past, the present, and what the future hold for you? Then if you are fortunate enough to be the recipient of one of the little orange invitations, come, leave dull care behind, and enter into the spirit of the Halloween party on Friday evening.

Surprise Party

A surprise party was given in honor of Mrs. Charles Miller and Mrs. William Schlange on Friday night at the home of the former.

The evening was spent in cards and music after which a dainty lunch was served at the home of Mrs.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES
QUIZZED

It is perhaps not generally known that while corporations and employers are required by law to fill out a form for each employee to whom they pay money and file it with the income tax division of the Internal Revenue Department, there is no law making such provision for heads of government departments and bureaus. The Internal Revenue Department, consequently, under the direction of Commissioner Blair, prepared a questionnaire which has been sent to every government official and employee, to be filled out and returned to the department. It is expected that this will result in disclosing the fact that there are hundreds of income tax delinquents among Federal officials and employees.

The Internal Revenue Department will make the most searching inquiry among all officials and employees on government pay rolls everywhere to determine whether or not they have been remiss in making their income tax returns.

TO PROTECT PRODUCERS

The commission houses in the twin cities and Duluth handling farmers' produce, such as meats, poultry, butter and eggs, fruits and vegetables, are now under strict supervision and must obtain licenses to continue in business in their lines.

A law was passed at the last session of the state legislature, the aim of which, according to its promoters, is to protect producers who make shipments of their produce to the markets, in affording their assurances of the financial responsibility of the consignees.

The suggestion is made by N. J. Holmberg, State Commissioner of Agriculture, that the shipper should in all cases inform himself in advance as to whether or not the receiver is prepared to handle his shipments. In all cases of disputes as to quality and condition of the produce included in any shipments that may be made, he is advised to obtain an inspection from the State Department of Agriculture prior to making a settlement.

AFTER THE HOTEL KEEPERS

The prohibition enforcement officials are getting after the hotel keepers. Letters have been mailed to every hotel keeper in the state by S. B. Quale, state prohibition director, notifying them that they will be held strictly accountable in the future for any violations of the prohibition amendment and will face prosecution under the nuisance feature of the act, which provides that they can be permanently enjoined from possessing or selling intoxicating liquors. This means that the hotel violating the amendment would be closed, which, of course, would prove a very serious matter for the proprietor.

COOPERATIVE ANIMAL MARKETING

The national cooperative livestock marketing plan, on which representatives of agricultural associations have been working for nearly a year, was practically completed with Friday's session of the farmers' livestock marketing committee in Chicago. Publication is planned prior to a meeting of a ratification conference in Chicago on Nov. 10. The main feature of the national plan is the organization of farmers' cooperative selling agencies at the principal markets.

The Soviet government announces that the entire grain crop of Russia and the Ukraine is 72,000,000,000 pounds. This includes seed grain, leaving only 55,000,000,000 pounds available for food. For every one in Russia to be fed, therefore, 1,800,000,000 pounds must be imported.

A Pan-American conference of women will be held in connection with the third annual convention of the National League of Women Voters to be held in Baltimore April 20 to 29 next.

This is the first Pan-American conference of women ever called.

A practical solution of the problem of unemployment is to open factories, mills and mines now closed, and increase the activities of plants now running with partial forces or on part time. All other attempted solutions of the problem of unemployment are but temporary.

AMUSEMENTS

Roy Stewart at New Park Tonight

"The Money Changers," Benjamin B. Hampton's powerful Pathe drama of love, adventure and intrigue in modern New York life, is the first photoplay written directly for the screen by a great author. Upton Sinclair, famous author of "The Jungle" and other books, took the theme of his novel, "The Money Changers" as a base and with Mr. Hampton wrote a story direct for the screen. It is a fact that the photodramatization or screen story evolved by Messrs. Hampton and Sinclair was written in novel length, over a hundred thousand words.

The photoplay used the underlying theme of the novel. Mr. Hampton as a magazine editor in New York was greatly interested in Upton Sinclair's novel while it was being written. Its enormous sale when published, and the sensation it created, was prophesied by him. When, years later, Mr. Hampton changed his activities to the picture field and became a famous producer, he got Mr. Sinclair to take the elements of the novel he had especially admired and make another novel-length story, written expressly for the screen.

Mr. Hampton believed that there was picture material of wonderful power and appeal in the story. Working with Mr. Sinclair he brought out character and color and photodramatic structure to the narrative. A wonderful background of mystic Oriental splendor, rich, luxuriant and colorful, representing New York's inner Chinatown, was used as a setting for some of the most thrilling plot elements.

The story is rich, colorful, thrilling and intensely dramatic, yet filled with humor and love interest of the sort that appeals to every real human being, and calls forth the best that is in one. One of the strongest all-star casts assembled in a motion picture production makes real life characters of the story people.

"The Greater Claim" Offers Startling
Situations and Character Portrayal

Alice Lake, beloved little star of the screen world, will be seen by local motion picture goers in "The Greater Claim," which will have a run of two days, beginning today at the Lyceum Theatre as the feature attraction.

The appearance of Miss Lake is always an event of importance, for she lends to whatever role she essays, buoyancy of youth, wonderful charm, and a great gift of acting.

In "The Greater Claim," adapted from the Izola Forrester-Mann Page story, she has the part of Mary Smith, the Poities beauty, who marries a wealthy youth, only to find that his father soon kidnaps him so as to separate them. She furiously annuls the marriage and proceeds to disgrace the family name. Shady schemers use her and her child to get hush money. The climax comes with a big vital situation, where mother love surges and where a man is called upon to make a clever move to discover who is really the mother and who the adventurer.

 GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES
 QUIZZED

It is perhaps not generally known that while corporations and employers are required by law to fill out a form for each employee to whom they pay money and file it with the income tax division of the Internal Revenue Department, there is no law making such provision for heads of government departments and bureaus. The Internal Revenue Department, consequently, under the direction of Commissioner Blair, prepared a questionnaire which has been sent to every government official and employee, to be filled out and returned to the department. It is expected that this will result in disclosing the fact that there are hundreds of income tax delinquents among Federal officials and employees.

The Internal Revenue Department will make the most searching inquiry among all officials and employees on government pay rolls everywhere to determine whether or not they have been remiss in making their income tax returns.

TO PROTECT PRODUCERS

The commission houses in the twin cities and Duluth handling farmers' produce, such as meats, poultry, butter and eggs, fruits and vegetables, are now under strict supervision and must obtain licenses to continue in business in their lines.

A law was passed at the last session of the state legislature, the aim of which, according to its promoters, is to protect producers who make shipments of their produce to the markets, in affording their assurances of the financial responsibility of the consignees.

The suggestion is made by N. J. Holmberg, State Commissioner of Agriculture, that the shipper should in all cases inform himself in advance as to whether or not the receiver is prepared to handle his shipments. In all cases of disputes as to quality and condition of the produce included in any shipments that may be made, he is advised to obtain an inspection from the State Department of Agriculture prior to making a settlement.

AFTER THE HOTEL KEEPERS

The prohibition enforcement officials are getting after the hotel keepers. Letters have been mailed to every hotel keeper in the state by S. B. Quale, state prohibition director, notifying them that they will be held strictly accountable in the future for any violations of the prohibition amendment and will face prosecution under the nuisance feature of the act, which provides that they can be permanently enjoined from possessing or selling intoxicating liquors. This means that the hotel violating the amendment would be closed, which, of course, would prove a very serious matter for the proprietor.

COOPERATIVE ANIMAL MARKETING

The national cooperative livestock marketing plan, on which representatives of agricultural associations have been working for nearly a year, was practically completed with Friday's session of the farmers' livestock marketing committee in Chicago. Publication is planned prior to a meeting of a ratification conference in Chicago on Nov. 10. The main feature of the national plan is the organization of farmers' cooperative selling agencies at the principal markets.

The Soviet government announces that the entire grain crop of Russia and the Ukraine is 72,000,000,000 pounds. This includes seed grain, leaving only 66,000,000,000 pounds available for food. For every one in Russia to be fed, therefore, 1,800,000,000 pounds must be imported.

A Pan-American conference of women will be held in connection with the third annual convention of the National League of Women Voters to be held in Baltimore April 20 to 29 next.

This is the first Pan-American conference of women ever called.

A practical solution of the problem of unemployment is to open factories, mills and mines now closed, and increase the activities of plants now running with partial forces or on part time. All other attempted solutions of the problem of unemployment are but temporary.

The Washington Post suggests as one way to save money, to marry a woman who will.

Don't blow out the gas, and be careful how you step on it, is the sage advice of the Houston Post.

AMUSEMENTS

Roy Stewart at New Park Tonight
 "The Money Changers," Benjamin B. Hampton's powerful Pathe drama of love, adventure and intrigue in modern New York life, is the first photoplay written directly for the screen by a great author. Upton Sinclair, famous author of "The Jungle" and other books, took the theme of his novel, "The Money Changers" as a base and with Mr. Hampton wrote a story direct for the screen. It is a fact that the photodramatization or screen story evolved by Messrs. Hampton and Sinclair was written in novel length, over a hundred thousand words.

The photoplay used the underlying theme of the novel. Mr. Hampton as a magazine editor in New York was greatly interested in Upton Sinclair's novel while it was being written. Its enormous sale when published, and the sensation it created, was prophesied by him. When, years later, Mr. Hampton changed his activities to the picture field and became a famous producer, he got Mr. Sinclair to take the elements of the novel he had especially admired and make another novel-length story, written expressly for the screen.

Mr. Hampton believed that there was picture material of wonderful power and appeal in the story. Working with Mr. Sinclair he brought out character and color and photodramatic structure to the narrative. A wonderful background of mystic Oriental splendor, rich, luxuriant and colorful, representing New York's inner Chinatown, was used as a setting for some of the most thrilling plot elements.

The story is rich, colorful, thrilling and intensely dramatic, yet filled with humor and love interest of the sort that appeals to every real human being, and calls forth the best that is in one. One of the strongest all-star casts assembled in a motion picture production makes real life characters of the story people.

Body of Late Knight Templar Lay in State at Masonic Hall on Saturday Afternoon

TWO KNIGHTS STOOD GUARD

Beautiful Lodge Ritual Exemplified. Trio Sang "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me"

The body of the late Milton McFadden lay in state at the Masonic hall from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. on Saturday. During this time two knights of the Templar's order stood guard over the body, one at the head and the other at the foot of the casket. These were changed at regular intervals according to the usage of the order.

Between the hours of 1:30 p. m. and 3 p. m. a representative gathering of the members of Aurora Lodge No. 100 and of Ascalon Commandery No. 16 assembled at the hall and proceeded to clothe themselves in the regalia appropriate to their rank in the masonic fraternity.

Promptly at 3 o'clock Edward Crust who served as Master of the lodge during the funeral exercises took his place at the Master's station, while G. F. Mitchell and Geo. Whitney, who together with Mr. Crust, are past masters of Aurora Lodge, took their respective stations as officers of the lodge. The other chairs were occupied by J. P. Anderson and Elmer Forsberg, past masters of Aurora Lodge.

Brother Edward Crust, as acting master, then called the lodge to order without form. Various portions of scripture were repeated by officers of the lodge, after which the chaplain, Rev. Fred Errington offered prayer, read the 12th chapter of Ecclesiastes and gave a short address in which he voiced the respect of the lodge and the community for the deceased. "Mr. McFadden" he said, "who had seen the design on the trestle board sought to copy that design in the building of his life. He knew that the purpose of the Supreme Architect is to have human beings so utilize life that they may be made fit stones to be built into the spiritual house. He had heard the story of Damon and Pythias, a story of the brotherly fidelity of a strong man, and he sought to copy the character of Pythias in his own life. He had read of the splendid principles of the Knights Templars, who in chastity, obedience and self denial, went forth on their noble mission, and he sought to be a worthy descendant of those brave hearts. He had learned the noble lessons of patriotism and sociability within the walls of another lodge room and he walked forth a brother of the order of the Elks.

Upon such principles was his life built and these reflected themselves in the finer traits of his character."

After a reference to some of these fine qualities, the chaplain speaking for the lodge and the community, conveyed their deep sympathy to those who sorrowed over the loss of one they loved.

Mrs. C. A. Albright, Mrs. C. W. Hoffman and Hon. S. F. Alderman, accompanied by Mrs. W. F. Wieland, sang "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me." A large gathering of sympathetic friends which filled the chairs in the hall sat silently through the service which was concluded with the singing of the hymn.

The knights of Ascalon Commandery then formed the order of march and left the hall to form lines at either side of Sixth street and to march to Evergreen cemetery at either side of the members of Aurora Lodge.

At the cemetery the committal service was read in an unusually impressive manner by acting master, Edward Crust, whose voice at times trembled with suppressed emotion. The apron was deposited in the grave by the Master of the ceremonies and the sprigs of evergreen were reverently dropped upon the lowered casket. The dirge was sung and the closing prayer read and the spirit of a good citizen left in the care of the Supreme Commander of the Universe.

Upon the return of the members of the Masonic order to their hall, fine tributes to the sterling manhood of Milton McFadden were voiced by several of the brothers.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors and the Masonic, Elks and Knights of Pythias lodges and all others who assisted husband and father, Milton McFadden, in his hours of illness and who showed their sincere sympathy to those left to mourn.

CHIROPRACTOR LOCATES HERE

Dr. W. S. Putnam of Little Falls, graduate of the Palmer School of Chiropractic, of Davenport, Iowa, class of 1917, has opened offices over Lammon's drug store on Laurel street and is now ready to receive patients.

Dr. Putnam has been practicing for four years and therefore experienced in his profession—his equipment is modern and up-to-date.

Dr. Putnam's announcement and office hours appear elsewhere in this issue.

Although Chiropractic is still in its infancy, it is a science that is by no means unknown to the majority of people. From a few followers with the big idea twenty-five years ago, it has today risen to rank as the foremost drugless health science. There are at present about twelve thousand practitioners and these numbers are increasing daily. The Palmer school at Davenport, of which Dr. Putnam is a graduate, has an actual attendance now of over twenty-seven hundred students, coming from all parts of the civilized world, twenty-six nationalities being represented. The philosophy and theory of Chiropractic is founded upon the fact that all nerves leading to the organs of the body emit from the spine, from between the movable segments. These segments become displaced from falls, strains, occupational positions, etc., thereby causing pressure upon the nerves leading to the bodily organs and shutting off their life giving qualities. The Chiropractor locates these displaced segments, puts them in alignment, and thus restores the nerve current from brain to tissue cell or organ.

After a reference to some of these fine qualities, the chaplain speaking for the lodge and the community, conveyed their deep sympathy to those who sorrowed over the loss of one they loved.

Mrs. C. A. Albright, Mrs. C. W. Hoffman and Hon. S. F. Alderman, accompanied by Mrs. W. F. Wieland, sang "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me." A large gathering of sympathetic friends which filled the chairs in the hall sat silently through the service which was concluded with the singing of the hymn.

The knights of Ascalon Commandery then formed the order of march and left the hall to form lines at either side of Sixth street and to march to Evergreen cemetery at either side of the members of Aurora Lodge.

At the cemetery the committal service was read in an unusually impressive manner by acting master, Edward Crust, whose voice at times trembled with suppressed emotion. The apron was deposited in the grave by the Master of the ceremonies and the sprigs of evergreen were reverently dropped upon the lowered casket. The dirge was sung and the closing prayer read and the spirit of a good citizen left in the care of the Supreme Commander of the Universe.

Upon the return of the members of the Masonic order to their hall, fine tributes to the sterling manhood of Milton McFadden were voiced by several of the brothers.

Dr. Putnam has been practicing for four years and therefore experienced in his profession—his equipment is modern and up-to-date.

Dr. Putnam's announcement and office hours appear elsewhere in this issue.

Although Chiropractic is still in its infancy, it is a science that is by no means unknown to the majority of people. From a few followers with the big idea twenty-five years ago, it has today risen to rank as the foremost drugless health science. There are at present about twelve thousand practitioners and these numbers are increasing daily. The Palmer school at Davenport, of which Dr. Putnam is a graduate, has an actual attendance now of over twenty-seven hundred students, coming from all parts of the civilized world, twenty-six nationalities being represented. The philosophy and theory of Chiropractic is founded upon the fact that all nerves leading to the organs of the body emit from the spine, from between the movable segments. These segments become displaced from falls, strains, occupational positions, etc., thereby causing pressure upon the nerves leading to the bodily organs and shutting off their life giving qualities. The Chiropractor locates these displaced segments, puts them in alignment, and thus restores the nerve current from brain to tissue cell or organ.

Upon such principles was his life built and these reflected themselves in the finer traits of his character."

After a reference to some of these fine qualities, the chaplain speaking for the lodge and the community, conveyed their deep sympathy to those who sorrowed over the loss of one they loved.

PRESIDENT WILL HELP BIRMINGHAM CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

(By United Press.)

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 24.—Birmingham's fiftieth year since incorporation was marked this morning by the beginning of a week's celebration. The opening of a huge fashion, industrial and automobile exhibit took place today and the initial performance of a pageant on the history of Birmingham will be presented tonight at Avondale Park. There is a grand chorus of 1,000 voices, besides an orchestra of unusual size.

Birmingham was founded in 1871. It developed from a tiny village of about 3,000 inhabitants in 1880 to a metropolis of 173,270, according to the official census figures for 1920. Birmingham is the largest city in Alabama, third largest in the south and the biggest of its age in America.

Coal and iron has been the basis of rapid and substantial growth and while they are still the leading products of the district, other branches of industry have grown up here.

The climax will be reached on Wednesday, when President and Mrs. Harding will arrive in the city. The streets have been gorgeously decorated in honor of the chief executive, who will take part in a huge parade. When he arrives on Wednesday morning, he will be met at the train by a delegation of citizens and 67 of the most beautiful girls in Alabama who have been chosen as "queens" from their various counties.

Following the parade, the president will make a formal address at Capitol Park and then lay the cornerstone of the new Masonic Temple. He and Mrs. Harding will be the guests of honor at a banquet and ball at the Country Club in the evening.

On the same day, the American Cotton Association will convene in their annual convention here.

The first athletic carnival also took place today with a boxing contest. Football, tennis, baseball, volley ball, running and other sports will be staged during the week.

Street dancing will begin tonight and will be one of the forms of amusement every night during the celebration.

The fashion show is one of the most elaborate events ever staged in Birmingham. The huge canvas tent is most artistically decorated and forms a suitable background for the daily promenade of the lovely "county queens" and the live models from New York. One end of the tent is devoted to an art museum, where the famous MacKenzie pastels of Birmingham steel industry are on display. There is an interesting reconstruction in miniature of the village of Birmingham fifty years ago.

The historical pageant of Birmingham has been written by Wallace Rice of Chicago, and Director Robertson, who is an actor, put a great deal of effort into the presentation and will himself appear in the cast. The pageant opens at the time the red men still ruled Alabama, showing the development to the present stage of civilization, mingling the folklore and legends of the state.

To guide pilots flying on the Paris to London route, the French government is placing captive balloons in certain positions at a height of about a mile.

SEAL CENSUS NOW IS YEARLY EVENT

United States Counts Animals—Since War Divides Profits With Japan and Britain

The only herd of wild animals in the world of which a yearly census is taken are the fur seals of the Pribiloff Islands, in the Bering Sea.

Once they numbered between five and six millions, but they were slaughtered so ruthlessly for their skins that by 1908 there were less than a hundred thousand on the islands. Now they are protected by international agreement, and the herd is mustered and counted every year like a flock of sheep.

The fur seal spends about two-thirds of each year far out at sea, making a circuit of 6,000 miles in the open ocean without touching land. It only comes to the Pribiloff Islands in the summer months to breed and rear its young. As soon as the young are born the mother seal goes out to sea in search of food.

When the sealers were forbidden to land on the islands they took to pelagic sealing—killing the animals in the open sea—and the seal's departure from the Pribiloffs was their great opportunity. But it meant the loss of both mother and baby, and the wholesale killing of the females in this way brought the herd near to extermination.

After many conferences, the taking of seals was prohibited within a radius of fifty miles of the island, and the entire ocean closed to sealing from May to September. Then, when war broke out, Britain, Russia and Japan, anxious to fall in with any reasonable suggestion, agreed to give up sealing within the waters of the Pacific traversed by the Pribiloff seals.

America, as owners of the islands, agreed to compensate the sealers for the loss they sustained, and to give Britain and Japan a definite interest in her sealing industry when it was revived.

All told, America expended $7,500,000 on her efforts to protect the seal, but it has been money well spent. Last year's census revealed the existence of 550,000 seals, and this year's count is expected to show at least 600,000. As the pelt of this particular seal fetches $150 in the open market, the herd may be said to represent a value of $100,000,000. About 25,000 young male seals are now being taken annually, which means a yearly revenue to the American government of $3,750,000, of which 25 per cent goes to Great Britain and another 15 per cent to Japan.

Point of Interest Screened.
The haunts of the dinosaur in the Red Deer valley, in Canada, have been screened by the department of trade and commerce. The place where these relics of millions of years ago are found is about 100 miles east of Calgary, in a canyon of the Red Deer river, which is just as beautiful as the Grand canyon, but about one-seventh its size. It is the only place in Alberta where the cactus grows.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

DON'T STAY GRAY! HERE'S AN OLD-TIME RECIPE THAT ANY BODY CAN APPLY

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out of date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy. Adv.

This Pure Cream Stops Head Colds

Apply in Nostrils—It Opens Air Passages Instantly.

Colds and catarrh yield like magic to soothing, healing, antiseptic cream that penetrates through every air passage and relieves swollen, inflamed membranes of nose and throat. Your clogged nostrils open right up and you can breathe freely. Hawking and snuffling stop. Don't stay stuffed up and miserable.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist. Apply a little in the nostrils and get instant relief. Millions endorse this remedy known for more than fifty years. Adv.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

HERE'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO DARKEN AND BEAUTIFY FADED HAIR

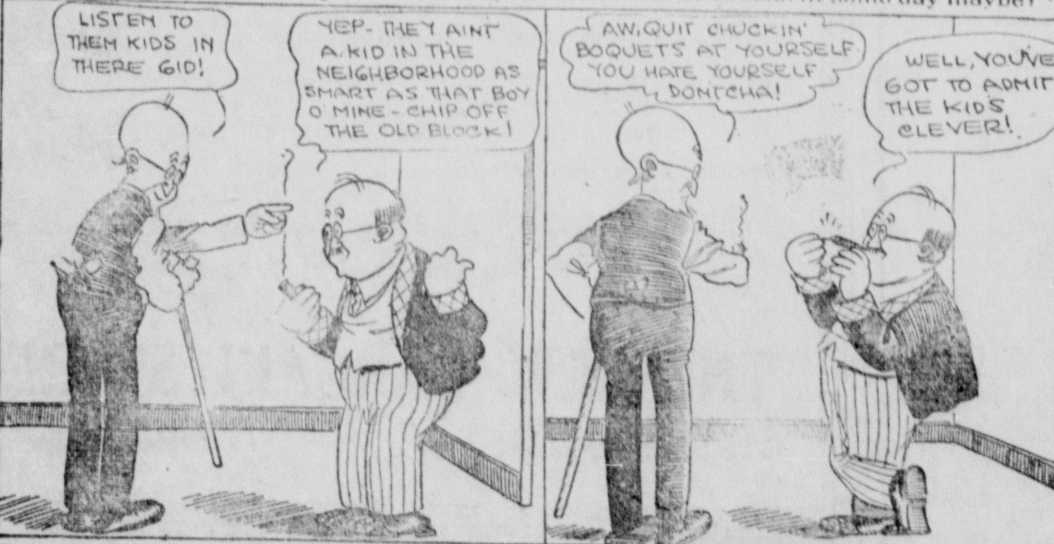

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

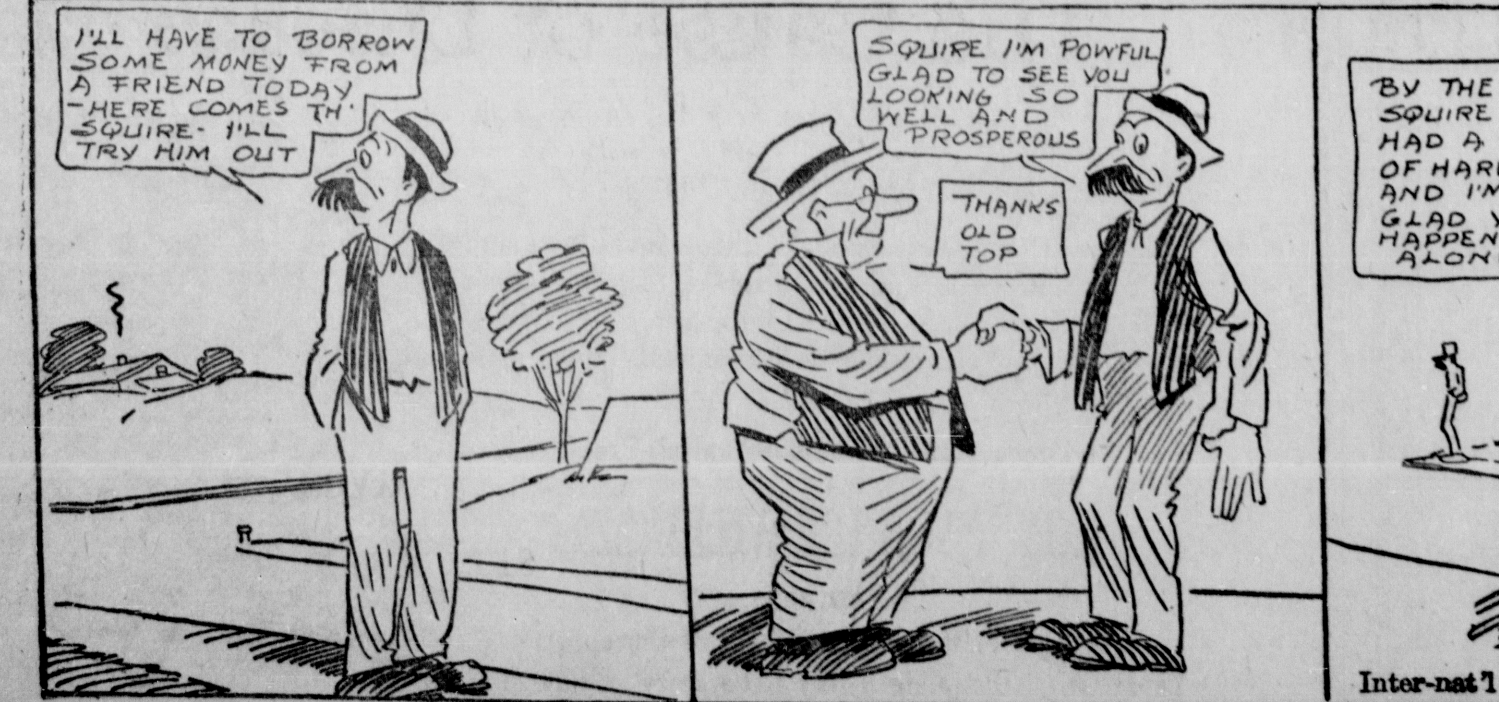

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. PRESIDENT WILL HELP BIRMINGHAM
CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

(By United Press.)

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 24.—Birmingham's fiftieth year since incorporation was marked this morning by the beginning of a week's celebration.

The opening of a huge fashion, industrial and automobile exhibit took place today and the initial performance of a pageant on the history of Birmingham will be presented tonight at Avondale Park. There is a grand chorus of 1,000 voices, besides an orchestra of unusual size.

Birmingham was founded in 1871. It developed from a tiny village of about 3,000 inhabitants in 1880 to a metropolis of 178,270, according to the official census figures for 1920. Birmingham is the largest city in Alabama, third largest in the south and the biggest of its age in America.

Coal and iron has been the basis of rapid and substantial growth and while they are still the leading products of the district, other branches of industry have grown up here.

The climax will be reached on Wednesday, when President and Mrs. Harding will arrive in the city. The streets have been gorgeously decorated in honor of the chief executive, who will take part in a huge parade. When he arrives on Wednesday morning, he will be met at the train by a delegation of citizens and 67 of the most beautiful girls in Alabama who have been chosen as "queens" from their various counties.

Following the parade, the president will make a formal address at Capitol Park and then lay the cornerstone of the new Masonic Temple. He and Mrs. Harding will be the guests of honor at a banquet and ball at the Country Club in the evening.

On the same day, the American Cotton Association will convene in their annual convention here.

The first athletic carnival also took place today with a boxing contest. Football, tennis, baseball, volleyball, running and other sports will be staged during the week.

Street dancing will begin tonight and will be one of the forms of amusement every night during the celebration.

The fashion show is one of the most elaborate events ever staged in Birmingham. The huge canvas tent is most artistically decorated and forms a suitable background for the daily promenade of the lovely "county queens" and the live models from New York. One end of the tent is devoted to an art museum, where the famous MacKenzie pastels of Birmingham steel industry are on display. There is an interesting reconstruction in miniature of the village of Birmingham fifty years ago.

The historical pageant of Birmingham has been written by Wallace Rice of Chicago, and Director Robertson, who is an actor, put a great deal of effort into the presentation and will himself appear in the cast. The pageant opens at the time the red men still ruled Alabama, showing the development to the present stage of civilization, mingling the folklore and legends of the state.

SEAL CENSUS NOW IS YEARLY EVENT

United States Counts Animals—Since War Divides Profits With Japan and Britain

The only herd of wild animals in the world of which a yearly census is taken are the fur seals of the Pribiloff Islands, in the Bering Sea.

Once they numbered between five and six millions, but they were slaughtered so ruthlessly for their skins that by 1908 there were less than a hundred thousand on the islands. Now they are protected by international agreement, and the herd is mustered and counted every year like a flock of sheep.

The fur seal spends about two-thirds of each year far out at sea, making a circuit of 6,000 miles in the open ocean without touching land. It only comes to the Pribiloff Islands in the summer months to breed and rear its young. As soon as the young are born the mother seal goes out to sea in search of food.

When the sealers were forbidden to land on the islands they took to pelagic sealing—killing the animals in the open sea—and the seal's departure from the Pribiloffs was their great opportunity. But it meant the loss of both mother and baby; and the wholesale killing of the females in this way brought the herd near to extermination.

After many conferences, the taking of seals was prohibited within a radius of fifty miles of the island, and the entire ocean closed to sealing from May to September. Then, when war broke out, Britain, Russia and Japan, anxious to fall in with any reasonable suggestion, agreed to give up sealing within the waters of the Pacific traversed by the Pribiloff seals.

America, as owners of the islands, agreed to compensate the sealers for the loss they sustained, and to give Britain and Japan a definite interest in her sealing industry when it was revived.

All told, America expended $7,500,000 on her efforts to protect the seal, but it has been money well spent. Last year's census revealed the existence of 550,000 seals, and this year's count is expected to show at least 600,000. As the pelts of this particular seal fetches $150 in the open market, the herd may be said to represent a value of $100,000,000. About 25,000 young male seals are now being taken annually, which means a yearly revenue to the American government of $3,750,000, of which 25 per cent goes to Great Britain and another 15 per cent to Japan.

Greatest Home Brewers

(By United Press)

Washington, Oct. 24.—Among the world's leading home-brewers and home distillers are the Norwegians. Authority for that is American Consul Carlson, at Christiania. His dispatch to Secretary Hoover today, telling of the freedom allowed the Norwegians, furnished a parallel chapter for dry law stories in the United States.

Light wines and beer in Norway, said Carlson, satisfy the people, and they want nothing stronger. Carlson said the people are permitted to make wines and beers with as high as 14 per cent. And there is no drunkenness. There is no need of the curfew, he said. The people have self-control, and there is no abuse of the governmental privilege.
